Home ownership comes with responsibilities. Are you ready to take them on?

Responsibilities like mowing the lawn, repairing and maintaining the interior and exterior, paying property tax, keeping your equity value up, and holding a mortgage loan.

These responsibilities may matter if you have other commitments such as attending school or traveling for your career.

Loan pre-qualification will strengthen your negotiating position with the seller

Ask at least one lender to pre-qualify you for a mortgage. There is no obligation on you to obtain a loan from that lender, nor does it obligate the lender to provide a mortgage loan.

The lender will analyze your credit position, current income, and outstanding debts to give you a reasonable estimate of your borrowing amount.

You may begin your pre-qualification application through our national network of lenders and brokers: Link to: www.SayHomeBuy.com click “Financing”

Note: before you begin your lender search, have on hand the mortgage comparison sheet to keep track of your mortgage information:

Need Some Fix-Up Money

Simply complete an application for a home equity product and process the paper at the same time you process your mortgage loan.

Your advantage is that the associated costs needed for closing your home mortgage can be applied in closing your home equity. This can save you time and money.

You need to request from your mortgage lender information about closing your home equity line of credit or loan.
